On Display: The Latest in Vital Signs Monitors

Vital signs monitors are such an integral part of your OR that you may be reaching some of the newest features and technologies available. From bright, multi-colored screens to one-touch controls, paddle monitors are becoming increasingly user-friendly—and affordable. Whether you're outfitting a new facility or considering upgrading, we hope our display will serve as a handy guide for you and your staff.

In the market for a new vital signs monitor? This guide will help you wade through a sea of new technology in patient monitoring to find the right solution for your facility.